Ride Profile

Actual distance by bike odometer is 100.2 miles (Profile is produced on a mapping software)

General Description

This is a very hard ride both in climbing and distance, and that's under the most ideal conditions. You hear of 100 mile rides (century) but how many include nearly 10,000 of elevation gain? Add to that conditions that could range well out of "ideal", such as sweltering heat or the chill of fickle weather at 6,000', and the difficulty becomes truly daunting. The Boy Scouts' motto "Be prepared" applies.

Such warning must be weighed though against the tremendous attractions this ride offers, making it premium even under the worst conditions for those who are properly prepared and suitably fit. Of all the road bike routes featured on this website this one is the best for diversity of scenic landscape, climate zones, and squiggly paved roads.
